

Bite Size Media with Museum of Vancouver &
The Chinese Canadian Historical Society of BC present:

Diverse Voices & Portraits – Intergenerational Exchange

October 26 – 10am – 2pm

Calling all Chinese Canadian Youth & Elders!

Are you a young person curious about what challenges elders may have experienced being Chinese Canadian?

Are you an elder interested to learn what it is like as a young person living as a Chinese Canadian today?

Are you interested in the art of recording and editing audio into a shareable podcast?

Learn how to conduct an interview and edit the audio files into a snappy podcast - ready to share!

Bite Size Media in partnership with the Museum of Vancouver and the Chinese Canadian Historical Society of BC will be hosting a half-day workshop that ties into the Diverse Voices & Portraits project. This project aims to collect & share stories around racism and discrimination in BC but also celebrate multiculturalism, with the hope to create a more understanding and inclusive BC through storytelling. Special guest speakers include writer Larry Wong and filmmaker Diana Leung.

Participants will have the opportunity to gain hands on experience with the equipment (Lapel microphone, ZOOM recorder), learn interview tips, and explore the basics of audio editing (with Final Cut Express) all while discovering stories about one another! And you get to walk away with a copy of your podcast!

Interview questions might include things like:

Have you ever faced discrimination because of 'where you come from'?

Do you feel like you can celebrate your culture where you live?

In addition to the audio interviews, participants will have their formal portraits taken in a professional studio setting and a 5x7 print of this portrait will be given as a gift.

Content will be posted afterwards on the Diverse Voices & Portraits website, <http://diversevoices.wordpress.com/> and may also have the opportunity to be included in a short film created by the Bite Size Media artists.

Space is limited - RSVP is required
<https://oct26diversevoices.eventbrite.com>

For more information, please contact diversevoicesproject@gmail.com.

We kindly acknowledge the support of Embrace BC, Province of British Columbia.